Secret Archive: Police officers saw UFO in Ordup

By Birger A. Andersen – Wednesday January 28th 2009

Two police officers from the Copenhagen Police Department are among the observers in hitherto classified UFO files with hundreds of mysterious sightings in the skies over Denmark.

On August 12th of 1991, the officers from the Copenhagen Police Response Unit were on their night patrol in Ordup, west of Skovshoved, when they spotted something large and strange moving over their heads. The time was 2.30 AM.

One thought it was an airplane and the other that it was a radio tower. When they looked up at the bottom [of the object], they saw blue, white, and yellow lights in no apparent order, (according to the Air Force questionnaire, the 40-year old police officers filled out immediately after the event).

The mysterious object was moving slowly east at an altitude of 75-150 meters, according to the officers.

As the object passed overhead, the Polaris system – a police communication system capable of transmitting audio and text to patrol cars used at the time – went on “tilt”.

Finally, the officers were no longer able to follow the object because of tall trees.

Only 20 hours later, a UFO was seen over Faaborg in Southern Funen. It was flying east to west, and had four powerful lights, a circular light and another two on the back. The UFO made no sound and was observed for about 5 minutes.

The information appears as part of the comprehensive archive material, which was been made publicly available by the military on their website. The archives contain information on all [reported] Danish UFO sightings from 1978 until 2002.
