

Live Stream From Washington DC

The X-Conference 2010 is likely to be streamed live to the internet. Stephen Bassett who is the main force behind the event has announced that the price will be around $29. Viewers will be able to purchase admission to the transmission on www.x-conference.com.

Pia Knudsen and Frederik Uldall from Exopolitics Denmark will attend the event physically and will hopefully upload some footage to the internet afterwards - free of charge. This year's entire X-Con will take place at the National Press Club - downtown DC. The registration fee will therefore also be a bit higher. Dates: May 7-9, 2010. Press Conference: May 10, 2010.
